PEOPLE TAKE A BUGS EYE VIEW

That They May be Ready For the Many of the Old Biblical Stories.

STORY OF FLOOD AND ARK

Rev. Richmond Says he Accepts it in the Literal Sense—Held Good Meeting.

The meetings at the First Presbyterian church are ever increasing in momentum. A large congregation greeted the speaker and the singer last night. Mr. W. J. Ramsay is a master both as a leader in song and as a soloist. The pastor, Rev. W. J. Cowling, says he has heard the most prominent evangelistic singers of the country and a few of the world-wide singers of sacred song, but he has never seen or heard Mr. Ramsay's superior and that he is certainly hard to beat. He sings not merely with his voice, but with his heart; the song comes from a consecrated heart and life and he improves with the knowing. He has still a great deal in reserve and bids fair to shine brighter and brighter unto the end. And the singers say "You cannot help but sing, because he pulls it out of you."

The theme of the preacher last night, was "The Ark, a Representation of the Church." He said he believed the story of the flood, because it has never been proven to be otherwise than true by science or any other art; also, because in it were found so many good lessons for life, time and eternity. He said, some people saw things in the Bible with a bug's-eye view, rather than from a bird's-eye view. Because of this they were unable to see things as they actually are. That science could analyze the tear that coursed down the cheek, but could neither soothe the feeling nor tell the tear's cause, but religion brought peace to the troubled and comfort to the sorrowing. And that in as much as there was one door into the ark, so also there was one door into the kingdom, viz.: Christ. The discourse was a sweeping and forceful one to which the audience listened with close attention.

Tonight the Rev. S. Wilbur Huffer will preach. He is a good, clean man, conscientious and consecrated and a forceful preacher. You may be sure of a feast of fat things, an uplifting discourse from his heart as well as his lips. Evangelist Ramsay will sing another solo. The public has already learned that he can reach the heart and soften it with song. All are welcome. Come and bring that friend is the slogan of the meetings. The meetings begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

SCARCE AS HEN'S TEETH

Eggs are about the scarcest commodity to be thought of at this time. It looks like the hens are on a strike as they will not lay, even for thirty cents a dozen. Merchants are unable to supply the demand at 35 cents a dozen, the highest price in some weeks.

ARE DETERMINED TO WIN THE CONTEST

Local High School Will Attempt to Make up Old Scores Tomorrow Night.

TO PLAY CONNERSVILLE FIVE

The game that will be played between the Rushville high school basketball team and the quintet from the Connersville high school tomorrow night promises to be the fastest contest of the season. The lads from over east defeated the local stars on their own floor last Friday night by the score of 24 to 19, but the members of the five from this city complained that the condition of the gymnasium had much to do with their defeat. So they are going into the game tomorrow night with the intention of making up for old scores.

Capt. Williams' aggregation will line up as follows: Williams, center; Sparks and Buell, guards; Gunning and Mauzy, forwards.

TALK OF PERJURY CHARGE NOW HEARD

County Option League May File an Affidavit Against William Offutt Here.

COMMISSIONERS ARE READY

The local attorneys for the County Option League were busy today on a matter, that was rumored to be of utmost importance to their movement. It is said that an affidavit has been prepared against William Offutt, charging him with perjury in filing his complaint and asking for an injunction against the county commissioners to restrain them from calling a special election. It is said that Offutt made statements in his complaint, which he did not know to be the truth. One of the allegations referred to is the statement he made that not enough valid signatures were on the petitions. It is claimed that Offutt did not see the petitions and could not make such a declaration. The drys claim to have forty per cent of the voters, when only twenty per cent is required by law.

When the attorneys for the wets asked for a change of judge, Judge Jackson named three persons, N. E. Forkner, Judge Barnard, congressman-elect, and Attorney Hunter. The drys promptly struck out the name of Judge Forkner and employed him.

The county commissioners are meeting each day and adjourning until the next that a delay of thirty days may be averted in event the injunction is dissolved by the special judge.

George Henley filed suit for divorce against Similda Henley today charging abandonment.

CAME FROM ALL COUNTRY 'ROUND

To Hear Yeuell Last Night on "Snakes" at Main Street Christian Church.

THREE PEOPLE CAME FORWARD

Exhorted all Christians to Pray and Work for Advancement of Christ's Cause.

Nothing is more of an evidence of the power the big Yeuell revival at the Main Street Christian church is taking on as the character of the audience last night that filled the great auditorium and Sunday school room. People were present from Arlington, Morristown, Gwynneville, Glenwood, Orange, Milroy, Flat Rock and from all the country round for ten miles, making one of the most remarkable gatherings at a religious service in Rushville for a number of years.

Rev. R. W. Abberley at the close of the service spoke words of hearty welcome to the many visitors from out of the city and urged that this revival be made a great rally for righteousness of all the Christian forces in Rush county.

Yeuell was at his best in his sermon on the text, "As Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the son of man be lifted up." The uplifted Christ is the cure for all sin. His description of the agonies of the snake-bitten Israelites and Moses lifting up the brazen serpent by God's command and the cures of all who obeyed God's command in the wilderness was intensely dramatic. As Yeuell paced the platform in his vigorous style of preaching, he talked like one inspired. He described the snake bites of the drunkard and the gambler and lewd and the liar and moral degenerate and pointed all to the uplifted Christ on Calvary for salvation.

Three responded to the invitation, two to make the good confession and one to unite by letter.

In his closing talk Evangelist Yeuell exhorted all the Christians to pray and work for the advancement of Christ's cause, regardless of denomination. He mentioned kindly the work of other meetings going on in the city, and urged that there be no spirit of rivalry or acrimonious doctrinal discussions or invidious comparisons of merits of meetings or leaders, but that all should work in Christian spirit for souls for Jesus Christ. He said he was not here to promote the work of any sect or to merely build up a church organization, but to win lost sinners for Christ and that the spirit of love and service shall prevail in everything.

Singing Evangelist Rogers is proving himself a great leader of song and the half hour song service each evening is a great religious uplift and his solo last night was especially good. Two hundred song books will be in use tonight. Mr. Yeuell speaks tonight on the theme, "A Sure Thing." Services will be held every night.

There will be a special meeting of the official board of the Main Street Christian church tonight at the close of the evangelistic service.

PUT FLAMES OUT WITH HOT WATER

Mother Found Children in Flames—The Home Was Also in Danger.

CHILD SOUNDED THE ALARM

Lace Curtains, Sewing Machine and the Matting Were All Ablaze—Mother Displays Courage.

A disastrous fire was narrowly averted this morning in the home of Mrs. Anna Gilson in North Perkins street, and the mother is extremely thankful that two of her children escaped without injury in the conflagration.

Mrs. Gilson was busy about her usual household duties in the kitchen when her four-year-old son, Bernard came running into the room and tugged away at her apron all the time making weird noises and displaying agitation on his countenance. The little fellow has never been able to talk so far, and makes his wants known by pantomime. The mother gave little heed at first but seeing the lad was so determined followed him into the room. The sight that met her eyes almost caused a nervous collapse. Fire was blazing forth from a corner in the room, the matting was on fire and a sewing machine nearby was likewise in flames. A two-year-old child was dangerously near the fire and the mother first gathered the little one up and fled from the room. She had no water at hand except a boiler filled with hot water on the stove, and this she grabbed and ran into the front room, extinguishing the flames.

The children had been playing with dominoes, shoving them around with a stick. This stick, the children had poked into a fire and set fire to the lace curtains. The curtains burned off the pole and fell on the floor, setting fire to the matting about the drugget.

NEW RULE AFFECTS NOTARY PUBLICS

Whether Applying First Time or For a Renewal Must Have Court Certificate.

NEW ORDER BY MARSHALL

A ruling has just been made by Governor Marshall affecting notaries public, and this means a large number of people in each county in the State. The new ruling is to the effect that a certificate of the judge of the Circuit Court must accompany each application for commission as notary, whether the individual previously held such a commission or not. Under the old practice, any one who had once been a notary could, at the expiration of his term, receive a new commission on the old certificate, on payment of the fee, without the bother of getting a new certificate.

Governor Marshall's new ruling makes it imperative that those renewing, shall be treated as if they never had a commission, and a certificate from the Circuit Judge must be sent to the Secretary of State, as when first applying. The ruling will probably cause a great deal of confusion as something like 3000 of these commissions are issued yearly, and a large per cent of them are renewals. The new rule is effective immediately.

JACKSON MADE CONFESSION

FELL OFF LOAD OF HAY ON HIS HEAD

Frank West Received Painful Injury When Boom - Pole on Wagon Broke.

MAY BE INJURED INTERNALLY

While hauling a load of hay this morning, Frank West, employed on the Will Alexander farm, northeast of this city, fell to the ground on his head and shoulders and was painfully injured. One side of his face and his shoulders were slightly bruised, and it is thought that nothing serious will result unless something new develops. Dr. E. I. Wooden was called immediately and dressed the injuries and can not determine as yet whether or not West is injured internally. The injured man lay unconscious for two hours after the accident. The boom-pole on the load of hay broke, causing him to fall.

JUSTICE REVERSED FINDING

Colored Man in Smallpox Quarantine Here Scores Legal Victory

George Washington Robinson, who was arrested a short time ago at Rushville, says the Connersville News on a charge of wife desertion, was tried before Justice Cates this afternoon. At the close of the trial it is understood that the Justice first pronounced him guilty, but later reconsidered his decision and dismissed the accused, finding no cause to bind him over to the circuit court. Robinson is an old man.

TILLS HEARTS WITH THE SONGS

That They May be Reary For the Planting of the Seeds of Christianity.

RAMSAY IS A GREAT SINGER

Comes With the Soft, Melodious Southland Language of Song—The Old Time Religion.

"The old time religion, the old time religion, the old time religion is good enough for me." They made the roof fairly quiver with that stirring old hymn last night at the First Presbyterian church where a large crowd was in attendance at the big revival in progress there. And it was old time religion. There seems to be a spiritual awakening in Rushville—and in many places throughout the country—and it's the old time methods they are employing. With all due courtesy to preachers, past and present, and with a full sense of the sacred ground upon which one treads when they speak of church affairs, it must be said that for a number of years, many of the churches were going back in their manner of organization, revivals and soul winning; if not going back then standing still while the world moved on at a rapid rate, and at times and in many instances, bid fair to leave the church in the lurch. Some there were who got to a point where they thought the church must be conducted with all the solemnity and hush-tush possible with a death chamber atmosphere; that it was a sin to smile and that one's piety was to be measured by the length of his Sunday face. It is surely God's will or they would have remained the same forever.

Now it is not unusual to hear a minister crack a number of applicable jokes and see persons in the congregation holding their sides in convulsions of laughter. Then again the song leader has become quite a factor in the church. One may see a good leader prancing up and down the pulpit, clapping his hands, shouting to the people to sing when there is a short rest in the music and frantically waving his hands like a demoniac Italian band master.

There is a reason for it all. The people must first be moved and nothing touches the spot like music. People must smile and laugh; no longer must they be treated coldly with a long and tiresome dissertation. It is easier to make people smile than it is to make them cry; but when the happy emotion is reached in men they unconsciously open the avenues to their hearts. The way is clear. It is far easier then to reach the tears held in reserve—which are so often jealously guarded. With a man moved by Truths that readily find fertile and tilled soil in an open heart, it is easier to plant the seeds of Christianity. Summed up, it is nothing more than a study of psychology; a study of human nature.

Evangelist Ramsay is an adept in psychology. Men and women are held charmed under his spell. He has the power of enthusing cold hearts and making them grow warm in song. Not only are they touched by the flute-like tones of his clear, round voice, but they are moved, under his direction, to sing the praises of God. Thus in song he tills their hearts that they might be ready for the seeds of the Great Truths.

Of course, there are some who raise their voices in protest, complaining of the method—only because it is not like they have been accustomed to for years—still, if ever that epigram, "the end justifies the means," applies to any case, it does

THIRTY-NINE SALOONS DOOMED

Another Decisive Swat Taken at the Rum Demon When Three Counties Roll Up Conclusive Majorities Against the Liquor Traffic Within Their Confines—Twelve Indiana Counties Have Now Taken Advantage of New Option Law and Wayne County Is Billed for a Similar Election Tomorrow—More Repeal Bills in Legislature.

Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—Three more counties were added to the temperance zone in Indiana Tuesday, when local option elections resulted as follows: Huntington County—"Dry," majority, 1,659; twenty-two saloons.

Parke County—"Dry," majority, 2,060; fourteen saloons.

Switzerland County—"Dry," majority, 908; three saloons.

Total number of saloons to be banished, thirty-nine.

The elections were held without exciting incidents. The hardest fight was in Huntington, where there is a small brewery. Church bells were rung at 5 in the morning in Huntington as a call to arms. Throughout the day the bells rang to call the voters' attention to the election. In all of the cities the women served coffee and sandwiches for the election officers and did everything in their power to aid in the temperance cause.

Twelve counties have held elections under the new law and all voted dry. The most important election scheduled thus far under the law will be held in

New York, Feb. 3.—A statement justifying his failure to respond to the calling of his name in court, to answer to the charge of grand larceny, has been given out by Broughton Brandenburg, the writer, through his wife.

Brandenburg, who is wanted in connection with the selling to the New York Times of an article which he represented as having been written by the late Grover Cleveland, but which was subsequently declared spurious by Mrs. Cleveland and others, gives as his reasons for forfeiting his bail the fact that he is without funds with which to retain handwriting and other experts to refute the expert testimony to be offered by the prosecution. As soon as he has obtained money enough to cover the cost of such testimony, he declares in his statement, he will return and face trial.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Loss of Appetite or Distress After Eating a Symptom That Should Not be Disregarded.

Appetite is just a natural desire for food. Loss of appetite or stomach distress after eating indicate indigestion or dyspepsia. Over-eating is a habit very dangerous to a person's good general health, and insatiable appetite is a sure symptom of diabetes.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, heaviest and healthiest persons are moderate eaters.

There is nothing that will create sickness or cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract serious maladies simply through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge everyone in Rushville who is suffering from any stomach derangement, indigestion or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine, they are not perfectly satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of anyone who has not been benefited by them. We honestly believe them to be without equal. They are made from the prescription of a physician who devoted all his time to the study and treatment of stomach troubles. They give very prompt relief, neutralize the gastric juices, strengthen the digestive organs, create good digestion and assimilation, naturally regulate the bowels, promote perfect nutrition, and create a permanent cure of all unhealthy symptoms.

We urge you to try a 25c. box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which gives 15 days treatment. At the end of that time, your money will be returned to you if you are not satisfied. Of course, in chronic cases, we have two larger sizes, which sell for 45c. and 89c. Lytle's Drug Store Third and Main streets.

No Jury in Cooper Case.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 3.—With the completion of the second week of the trial of Colonel Duncan B. Cooper, Robin J. Cooper and John D. Sharp, the jury box still remains unfilled. It is not improbable that the fourth venire of 500 men will be exhausted today, in which event the fifth will be drawn.

INDIANA POLITICS

Indianapolis, Feb. 3.—After wrangling two hours the senate adopted Senator Kling's resolution favoring election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. Party feeling ran high during the discussion, as the Democrats charged Senator Kling with introducing the resolution to cast reflection on the secret caucus at which B. F. Shively of South Bend defeated John W. Kern for senator. Senator Kling took a shot at secret caucuses in his resolution and declared that the proceedings attending the election of a senator should be public. The Republican members of the committee to which the resolution was referred, reported it for adoption. The Democrats reported against it because of the language it contained. Senator Kling started trouble when he declared that the people recently saw the result of selecting a senator by secret caucus. He said that he doesn't believe the legislature should recognize such methods as were used in electing Shively. Senator Kistler, Democratic leader, came back with the charge that Senators Beveridge, Hemenway and Fairbanks were elected at secret caucuses. Senator Proctor, Democrat, defended his party, saying that the Democratic members had nothing to be ashamed of in electing Shively as they did. Other Democratic members claimed their party was the originator of the plan for the election of senators by popular vote. The Republicans produced records to prove that they have taken the initiative in such matters in Indiana. Senator Bland, Republican, declared that if reports are true, the Democratic caucus was so rotten that it smelled bad. Senator Kirkman, chairman of the committee that considered the resolution, said that a protest has gone up all over Indiana against the methods employed in the Democratic caucus to defeat Kern. The resolution was adopted finally after objectionable language was stricken out.

The house is swamped with new bills. Nearly a hundred more have been introduced. By request Representative Kleckner introduced one to amend the full train crew law as it is applied to light trains. Representative Sweeney presented a bill providing for the election of city officials every two years in fifth-class cities. Representative Stevens, by request offered a measure giving a bounty of a penny each on rat tails. Representative Racey introduced a bill for a normal school for negroes and appropriating $7,000 a year to maintain it. Representative Wickie introduced a bill to provide free text-books for school children. Representative Behymer offered a bill to abolish township advisory boards. Representative Bassett introduced a bill to exclude labor organizations from provisions of the state anti-trust law. Representative Behymer offered a bill to make the township trustee the trustee officer. Representative Maas introduced a bill limiting fares on traction lines to a cent and a half a mile and compelling traction companies to provide extra cars at certain hours for school children.

Representative Racey has introduced a bill to establish a normal school for the training of colored teachers. This arises from the enforcement of the act of 1907 prescribing high school normal school or college requirements for teachers in the public schools of the state. According to Mr. Racey there are now approximately 200 colored teachers in the state. They were affected by the enforcement of the law probably more in proportion than were the white teachers. In the Indiana state normal school at Terre Haute Mr. Racey said, there were seventy-six colored students, compelled to attend through the enforcement of the law. Mr. Racey explained that an organization of the colored teachers of the

in this instance, and admirably. Little matter how it is done, if a soul is won for Christ, it counts for it is written "the angels in heaven rejoice when one sinner repenteth."

It is called religious fervor, or more properly, religious excitement. We are all human—"a rag, a bone and a hank of hair." For that reason, the man without a tear, the stoic, must have something other than the commonplace brought and paraded before him, if he is to be moved at all. Was it not so in the days that the Savior was on earth? All was excitement and wonderment that caused the hundreds to follow Christ. At least they were first attracted by some unusual procedure or unheard-of utterance. Witness the miracle working, the raising of the dead, curing the sick, healing the lepers, the apostles speaking in the different and many tongues, and reverently we say it, the spectacular death and resurrection of Christ Jesus.

In this age, nerves of men are keyed to a high pitch. The preacher as well as the orator or actor must strike that pitch if he would win a receptive audience in the hearts of men. Thus it is that we see the staid, old stalwarts of the Calvinistic faith, along with the many other denominations, joining hands with the spirit of the age and running ahead under full steam, as it were. Thus it is that we see Evangelist Ramsay employing all the arts at his command to arouse enthusiasm and stir men to participate, body and soul, in divine worship. If, in his opinion, he thinks the singing in unison, is not as vigorous as it should be, he will stop and sarcastically remark:

"Now, I want everyone to join in this song but the prettiest woman in Rushville; the one that sits with her arms folded and her lips sealed, lest she would spoil the beautiful pose she has struck." This invariably and naturally brings smiles, good humor and lastly, a loud, full chorus by all the women in attendance. Then some allusion is made to the bald headed men; that, too, reaches the desired "spot." In many ways the singer "breaks the ice," and to date, all records in the church history for magnificent and grand singing with all doing their full duty and very, level best in the congregational songs. Lips that have been closed for years are opened and they answer the call of the muse under the spell. Singing becomes infectious and highly contagious.

Mr. Ramsay has a pleasing personality and leads the singing with grace and skill. He is a southerner (their broad brogue, with their "you aw'll," "dissolving r" and soft pedal on all harsh sounding words, like the Italian language, was made for singing purposes) and in his voice, a sweet, pleasing baritone, there are all the poetic charms of the South—the song birds, the nightingale, the plantation chants and the soul-singing of the land of the sweet magnolias.

Three of the large churches here have contributed their best singers to the large chorus under Mr. Ramsay's direction which augments the regular church choir. In addition they have pipe organ, violin, piano and cornet, and it adds much to the services there that are growing in interest each night. The pastor, Rev. J. L. Cowling, adds a personal charm to the meetings. He is a genuine, typical Englishman—a constant reminder of the Vicar of Wakefield.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

THE POINT OF VIEW.

(Connersville Examiner)

There is one man who doubtless hears of the result of county local option election in Indiana with a smile of satisfaction. It is one J. Frank Hanly. But as Jim Watson hears of these results it is no doubt hard for him to see any satisfaction in them when he compares the result of the option elections with his own vote a few months ago in the same counties.

MUST GET TOGETHER

(Shelbyville News.)

The wise merchant and the wise farmer will say nothing and do nothing that will lead to any estrangement between them. They are interdependent and the prosperity and welfare of the one depends largely of the other. Selfishness is not a commendable trait in any man.

IT'S COMING AGAIN.

(New Castle Courier.)

February 2 is alleged by some people to be Groundhog Day and many believe that that is the day when his hogship comes from his hole and forecasts the weather for the next six weeks. The truth of the matter is, according to the well-defined arguments of "Uncle Sammy" Roof, the original and only groundhog authority that Henry county ever had, it comes on Ash Wednesday, which this year is February 24.

BY THE WAYSIDE

The winds blew cold and the sky was overcast with the somber gray of winter. Tenderly she lay the still white form beside others she had lain before. She uttered no complaint, she made no outcry. But presently there came a time when she could contain herself no longer. She raised her voice in lamentation and others who heard joined in until the grounds echoed with their cries. Then all again was still. What was the use of it all? She would lay another tomorrow.

To Evangelize the World

World Wide Movement is Launched at Missionary Convention in Minneapolis

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 3.—To bring all the people of the entire world to a knowledge of the saving grace of Christianity, and that within the present generation, is the tremendous project undertaken by the Laymen's Missionary Movement of North America, under whose auspices will be held in Minneapolis this week the most notable foreign missionary conference in the religious history of the northwest. Scores of distinguished delegates from all parts of the world are in the city today and the number will be largely augmented before the conference is formally opened tomorrow evening.

It is a new line of effort that has been inaugurated by the Laymen's Missionary Movement, as it is called, which sprang into existence without previous arrangement or planning. It grew out of a commemoration held at the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York, November 13 and 14, 1906, of the "Hay Stack" prayer meeting in Williamstown a century ago.

The campaign was projected for the evangelization of the world in this generation.

The reason for the movement can be briefly given as being occasioned by the inadequacy of the present scope and extent of missionary work. Notwithstanding the great triumph of modern missions, it yet remains true that while nineteen centuries have passed since Christ died there are still millions of people who have not yet heard that there is a Christ.

The special field of the movement is among the men of the churches, leaving the work among women, students and young people to others. The effort is not made to collect funds nor to send missionaries, but to help the present missionary boards. The plan and method of work include a general committee of something more than 100 men, who meet semi-annually, and a national committee of fifteen men. In every city and large center of population an interdenominational co-operating committee is to be appointed to promote an aggressive and adequate missionary policy in all the churches of a district.

The conference will be opened with a dinner tomorrow evening, to be attended by leading laymen of all denominations. President Cyrus Northrup of the State University is to preside. A mass meeting will be held, also denominational meetings at various churches, at which the speakers will be some of the most prominent foreign missionaries of the Baptist, Congregational, Episcopal, Methodist and Presbyterian missions who are on furloughs.

Governor John A. Johnson is deeply interested in the conference and has promised to participate. One of the notable speakers will be Lieutenant-Colonel Elijah Halford, founder and for many years editor of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, also private secretary to President Harrison, and of late in the service of the regular army stationed in the Philippines.

William T. Ellis, an editorial writer on a prominent Philadelphia daily, who has recently returned from a tour of the world during which he made a special study of foreign missions, is expected to be here.

J. Campbell White who is regarded by many as one of the best posted speakers on foreign mission topics of this generation, is also announced, as well as B. F. Wilber, American consul-general at Halifax, Nova Scotia, whose experiences while filling a similar post at Singapore, China, affords one of the most thrilling narratives in the history of missionary work, will be present.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

You can hardly imagine anything funnier but one would have to see it to fully appreciate it. An old man—evidently of the Mr. Henry Peck variety—came to town Saturday and from all appearances his wife told him to wait at a certain spot until she returned. He took up a position near Norm Norris' barber shop and leaned against the wall. In this position he stood for nearly an hour. Several in that vicinity noticed the old man and felt sorry for him. In his hands he held pressed against his stomach a large pan in which he and his wife had evidently brought butter to town. He would look up at the court house clock and then up the street every few minutes after which would follow a heavy and deep sigh. It was at this point that the town-cut-up's and village comedians got busy. One of them hurried past the fellow and stopping suddenly stepped back and dropped two pennies in the pan, as if he thought the fellow was a beggar. The old man was dumb founded and could not say a word. He looked after the fellow until he disappeared around the corner and then, as there was nothing else to do, pocketed the two cents. The joke was tipped off to a number of fellows and they went by singly, dropping in pennies, buttons, beer checks and what-not. The countryman remained as a statue all the time and did not move until his wife came and the scene that followed when he tried to explain, or have her explain the strange action of the people here, was a rich one. Both walked away shaking their heads.

Case Against School Teacher Who

BROOKBANK GETS OFF EASY

Was Indicted on a Charge of Shooting
With Intent to Kill at the Watson - Hall Reception.

The case of shooting with intent to kill against Charles E. Brookbank, trustee of Harrison township, and formerly a school teacher, and well known over the county, has been nollied in the circuit court of Henry county, says the Connersville Examiner. This case was taken to New Castle some months ago on a change of venue from Rush county.

Brookbank, with a large delegation of Connersville people, early last summer attended the joint celebration at Rushville in honor of the nomination of the Hon. Frank J. Hall as lieutenant governor, and of James Watson, for governor. About the time that the Connersville crowd was getting ready to return home, Brookbank and William Price, marshal of Rushville, became involved in an altercation, in the course of which a shot was fired. Nobody was injured, the bullet passing harmlessly out of the car window. Price alleged that Brookbank had attempted to shoot him, with the result that he was arrested on a charge of shooting to kill.

City Marshal Price was disappointed today when he learned of the Brookbank dismissal. Along with many citizens, he was of the opinion that Brookbank should have been punished for his offense. There was no doubt but what he fired the shot and his poor aim is all that saved the official from being shot down.

The case against Frank Porter for allowing others than members of his own family in his saloon, was nollied today in the Rush circuit court.

1809 -- The Year of Geniis -- 1909

Centenary of Mendelssohn

The Great Composer
Master of the Music of the Heart

Among the great galaxy of immortals given to the world by the year 1909, not the least was Jakob Ludwig Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, commonly known simply as Mendelssohn, one of the greatest composers of his time, if not all time. He was born in Hamburg on February 3, 1809, and the centennial of his birth is celebrated today by music-loving people the world over.

The birth of Mendelssohn followed by a few days that of Edgar Allan Poe, the genius of poetry and preceded by but a short time the birth of Abraham Lincoln, the master statesman, and Charles Darwin, the shining light of nineteenth century science. Chopin, the poet of the pianoforte, was born March 1, 1809, less than a month after Mendelssohn.

The great composer had distinguished ancestry, his grandfather, Moses Mendelssohn, having been famous as a philosopher and savant. His discussions of metaphysics were learned and exhaustive in style and still widely read by German scholars. The philosopher had three sons. Of these, Abraham became a banker in Hamburg and married a Jewess, Lea Salomon Bartholdy. Of this union four children were born, and were educated Christians. The second of these children was he who attained fame as one of the world's greatest composers.

Mendelssohn's musical ability was early manifested, and at the tender age of 9 we find him playing in public and executing almost perfectly the most difficult pianoforte parts. At 10 he became a student in a Berlin music school. At 11 he was a full fledged composer, his earliest dated work being a cantata completed in January, 1820. During that year he produced nearly sixty movements, and in the following year essayed five symphonies for stringed instruments, an opera, and an immense output of other musical works. Genius has seldom had such precocity as was evidenced by the music mad Mendelssohn.

At the age of 16 his father took the boy prodigy to Paris, where he met Rossini, Meyerbeer, Hummel and many other artists of wide celebrity.

Returning to Germany, the boy began work on what was destined to be one of the greatest successes, and at the age of 17 he had before him the finished score of the overture to "Midsummer Night's Dream." It was first publicly performed at Stettin, in February, 1827.

In 1829 the youthful composer began a system of tours arranged by his father. London was the first city visited and the boy was given an enthusiastic reception. In 1830 he visited Italy, pausing on his way at Weimar for a brief but memorable visit with Goethe. For six years he traveled about England and the continent, working steadily upon the great compositions that grew into magnificent melodies under the magic influence of his genius.

At the age of 28 Mendelssohn married Cecile Charlotte Sophie Jeanre-naud, an amiable and beautiful woman. The honeymoon was spent in England, where the composer conducted his famous oratorio, St. Paul, at the Birmingham music festival.

In 1841, after a sixth visit to London, Mendelssohn was recalled to Berlin by the king of Prussia, who conferred upon him the title of Kapellmeister. The period that followed was marked by the production of some of the most famous compositions, but it was also accompanied by much vexation of spirit, and in 1842 he persuaded his royal patron to release him from some of his onerous engagements.

In 1846 Mendelssohn first produced Elijah, and in the following year he visited England for the tenth and last time, witnessing the first appearance of his friend and comrade, Jenny Lind, at Her Majesty's Theatre. Returning to Frankfurt, he learned of the death of his sister Fanny, and the blow to his loving and sensitive spirit was so great that he fell to the ground insensible. In vain his relatives and friends attempted to rally him from the spirit of melancholy that settled over him like a pall. His tender heart was broken, and his physical strength was not great enough to sustain him until the touch of time had healed the wound. On November 4, 1847, he died.

A GENTLEMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI

CHAPTER XIII.

AN OLD FASHIONED FATHER.

CONGRESSMAN NORTON was startled visibly at the sight of Carolina and Haines apparently so wrapped up in each other. Perhaps she was getting interested in the handsome, interfering secretary. That a woman sometimes breaks her promise to wed he well knew. Plainly Carolina was carrying things too far for a girl who was the promised wife of another.

Carolina and Haines showed surprise at Norton's entrance.

The congressman advanced and spoke sneeringly, his demeanor marking him to be in a dangerous mood.

"Do I intrude?" he drawled deliberately.

Carolina drew away her hands from Haines and faced the newcomer.

"Intrude!" she exclaimed contemptuously, a tone that Norton construed as in his favor and Haines in his own.

"Intrude!" Haines laughed sarcastically, feeling that now he was leader in the race for love against this Mississippi representative, who was, he knew, a subservient tool and a taker of bribes. "You surely do intrude, Norton. Wouldn't any man who had interrupted a tete-a-tete another man was having with Miss Langdon be intruding?"

"I suppose I can't deny that," he replied.

The secretary smiled again.

"I'll match you to see who stays," he said.

But Norton's turn to defeat his rival had come. He held out a paper to Haines.

"Senator Langdon gave me this for you. I reckon I don't have to match."

The secretary opened the note to read:

"Where in thunder does that hydrate come from—South America or Russia? How much off on the tariff on the creature do we want? Come over to the committee room, where I am, right away. Say it's an urgent message and get in with a tip."

The secretary looked up, with a laugh.

"You win, Norton. I'm off. Good-by." And he started on a run to the senator's aid.

Norton turned angrily on the girl as the door closed.

"See here, Carolina," he cried, "what do you mean by letting that fellow make love to you?"

Carolina Langdon would not permit rebuke, even from the man she cared for. She tossed back her head and said coolly:

"Why shouldn't I let him make love to me if I choose?"

"You know why," exclaimed Norton, his dark face flushing sullenly. "Because I love you and you love me!"

Norton nodded.

"We've got to get rid of him, Carolina. That's all there is to it. He has to go! When it comes to bossing the senator and making love to you, too, he's getting too strong."

"How can you do it?" she asked. "You know when father likes any one he won't believe a thing against him."

Norton agreed sorrowfully.

"That's right. Seems like the senator's coming to think more of this fellow than he does of his own family. And he seized her and pressed her to him. 'That is why!' he cried, and he kissed her again and again."

"Yes, I love you, Charlie; you know that," Carolina said simply. She was conquered by the southerner's masterfulness.

"Then why do you stand for that whippersnapper's talk?" asked Norton perplexedly.

Carolina laughed.

"Don't you see, Charlie, I have to stand for it? I have to stand for it for your sake, for Randolph's sake, for my own sake, for all our sakes. You know the influence he has over father."

"He can make father do anything he wants, and suppose I don't lead him on? Where's our project? Let him suspect a thing and let him go to father, and you know what will happen. Father would turn against that Altacoola scheme in a moment. He'd beggar himself, if it were necessary, rather than let a single one of us make a dollar out of a thing he had to decide."

"You're right, I reckon, Carolina," said Norton dejectedly. "Your father is a real type of the southern gentleman. He hasn't seen any real money in so long he can't even bear to think of it. Somebody's got to make money out of this, and we should be the ones."

"We'd lose frightfully, Charlie, if they changed to Gulf City, wouldn't we?" said the girl apprehensively.

"Why shouldn't I let him make love to me?"

Norton. "I have to see the senator as soon as possible, and he ought to return from that ways and means committee meeting pretty soon."

When Carolina had gone a slight feeling of constraint settled over the two.

"The senator's pretty busy these days with his naval base matter coming up, isn't he?"

"Yes; keeps him pretty busy receiving delegations from Altacoola and Gulf City and patting them both on the back," said Haines. "Had a man from Gulf City in this morning with some pretty strong arguments."

The secretary watched Norton keenly to note the effect of this hint in favor of Gulf City.

"Gulf City!" Norton sneered. "Shucks! Who'd put a naval base on a bunch of mud flats? I reckon those

"I'm horribly afraid sometimes, Charlie. That's why I came here today. I wanted to influence Haines, to keep him straight. Is there any danger that they'll change? You don't think there is, do you?"

"Of course not, child. Stevens has got his money in, and Peabody. There are only five on the committee. It's bound to go through."

"Then why is father so important to them?" asked Carolina.

"It's past my understanding, Carolina. I don't see how he's done it. But the whole country has come to believe whatever your father does is right, and they've got to have him."

"And father is completely under the domination of this secretary," murmured the girl thoughtfully.

Why, I wouldn't be surprised if he'd even let one of you girls marry him if he wanted to marry you."

"We'd have something to say about that," Carolina laughed amusedly. "Do you think that Hope or I could ever care for a man like this fellow? Of course not. But do be careful, Charlie. This Altacoola business must go through right. It would be too cruel not to have it so. And then—"

"And then you and I'll be married at once, Carolina, whether your father likes it or not," ended Norton for her. "With Altacoola safe, we can do as we please, as between us we'll be rich. What does it matter how we get the money, as long as we get it?"

CHAPTER XIV.

WHEN A DAUGHTER BETRAYS HER FATHER.

BUD returned to find Miss Langdon and Norton still in the room. New buoyancy, new courage, thrilled in his veins. He would give this congressman the battle of his life for this prize, of that he was confident.

"I have an engagement with Mrs. Holcomb, Senator Holcomb's wife," she said, "so I must hurry away, but I expect to be back to see father."

"I think I'll just wait," suggested

"Why don't you put your money into Gulf City and lose it, then?" replied Norton, nodding his head scornfully.

"That'd be a good lesson for a rising young politician like you."

Senator Langdon's secretary peered straight into Norton's eyes.

"Because, congressman," he said, "if I were to put my money in Gulf City perhaps I wouldn't lose it."

The southerner took a step forward, leaned over and glared angrily at Haines. His face whitened.

"You don't mean that you could swing Langdon into Gulf City?" he gasped.

Haines smiled.

"I can't say that, Norton, but I guess people interested in Altacoola would hate to have me try."

"I didn't know you were that kind, Haines," said Norton, his virtue

"I'll make you pay for that!"

aroused at the thought of losing his money. "So you're playing the game like all the rest?"

"Why shouldn't I?" shrugged the secretary. "I guess perhaps I'm a little sore because the Altacoola people haven't even paid me the compliment of thinking I had any influence, so they can't expect me to work for them. The Gulf City people have. As things stand, Gulf City looks pretty good to me."

"Is this straight talk?" exclaimed Norton.

"Take it or leave it," retorted Bud. The Mississippi leaned with his hands on the desk.

"Well, Haines, if you're like the rest and are really interested in Altacoola, I don't know that you'd have to go very far to talk."

"You know something of Altacoola lands, then, Norton?" said Robert, tingling with suppressed excitement. He felt that he was getting close to real facts in a colossal deal."

Norton was sure of his man now.

"Well, I am in touch with some people who've got lands and options on more. I might fix it for you to come in," he whispered.

Haines shook his head.

"You know I haven't much money, Norton. All I could put in would be my influence. Who are these people? Are they cheap little local folks or are they real people here who have some power and can do something that is worth while?"

"Do I look like I'd fool with cheap skates, Haines? They're the real people. I think, Haines, that either Senator Stevens or Senator Peabody would advise you that you are safe."

"Ah! Then Stevens and Peabody are the ones. They'll make it Altacoola, then sell to the government at a big advance and move to 'Easy street.'"

"That's right," agreed Norton.

Bud Haines straightened abruptly. The expression on his face gave Norton a sudden chill—made him tremble.

"Now I've got you," cried the secretary. "You've given yourself dead away. I've known all along you're a d—d thief, Norton, and you've just proved it to me yourself."

"What do you mean?" Norton was clinching his fist. Words like that mean fight to a southerner!"

"I mean that before Senator Langdon goes one step further in this matter he shall know that his colleagues and you are thieves, Mr. Norton, trying to use him for a cat's paw to steal Gulf City fellows are wasting their time."

"Think so?" suggested Haines. "Are you absolutely sure?"

Norton started.

"Why, you don't mean to tell me," he exclaimed, "that Senator Langdon would vote for Gulf City for the naval base?"

"I don't mean to tell you anything, congressman," was the cool rejoinder. "It's not my business. The senator's the one who does the talking."

An ugly sneer wrinkled the congressman's face.

"Well, I'm glad he attends to his own business and doesn't trust too many people," he said pointedly.

The secretary smiled in puzzling fashion.

"That's exactly why I don't talk, congressman," he said pleasantly. "The senator doesn't trust too many people. If he did, there might be too much money made out of land speculation. Senator Langdon doesn't happen to be one of those senators who care for that kind of thing."

"I suppose you think you're pretty strong with the senator," ventured the Mississippi.

"Tell you the truth, I haven't thought very much about it," replied Haines, "but, if you come right down to it, I guess I am pretty strong."

"Suppose you've influenced him in the naval base business, then."

Still the secretary smiled, keeping his temper under the adroit attack.

"Well, I think he'd listen to me with considerable interest."

"But you're for Altacoola, of course," Haines shook his head.

"No, I can't say that I'm for Altacoola. Fellow who was in here this morning put up a pretty good argument to my mind, for Gulf City. In fact, he made it pretty strong. Seemed to show it was all to my interest to go in with Gulf City. Think I'll have to investigate a little more. I tell you, Norton," spoke Haines in a confidential manner, "this land speculation fever is a frightful thing. While I was talking to this fellow from Gulf City I almost caught it myself. Probably if I met the head of the Altacoola speculation I might catch the fever from him too."

"Why don't you put your money into Gulf City and lose it, then?" replied Norton, nodding his head scornfully.

"That'd be a good lesson for a rising young politician like you."

Senator Langdon's secretary peered straight into Norton's eyes.

for them from the government. I suspected something this morning when Gulf City tried to bribe me and a visitor from there gave me what turns out to be a pretty good tip."

"So that was your dirty trick," exclaimed the congressman as he regained his composure.

"Set a make believe thief to catch a real one," laughed the secretary.

"Very good trick, I think."

"I'll make you pay for that!" cried Norton, shaking his fist.

"All right. Send in your bill any old time," laughed Haines. "The sooner the better. Meantime I'm going to talk to Langdon."

He had started for the door when Carolina Langdon re-entered, followed by her brother Randolph.

"Wait a minute," said Norton, with unexpected quietness. "I wouldn't do what you're about to do, Mr. Haines."

"Of course you wouldn't," sneered Haines.

"I mean that you will be making a mistake, Haines, to tell the senator what you have learned," rejoined the southerner, struggling to keep calm at this critical moment when all was at stake. He realized, further, that now was the time to put Haines out of the way—if that were possible. "A mistake, Mr. Haines," he continued, "because, you see, you don't know as much as you think. I wouldn't talk to Langdon if I were you. It will only embarrass him and do no good, because Langdon's money is in this scheme, too, and Langdon's in the same boat with the rest of us."

Haines stopped short at this astounding charge against his chief.

"Norton, you lie! I'll believe it of Langdon when he tells me so; not otherwise."

Norton turned to Randolph.

"Perhaps you'll believe Mr. Langdon's son, Mr. Haines?"

Randolph Langdon stepped forward.

"It's true, Haines," he said; "my father's money is in Altacoola lands."

Haines looked him up and down, with a sneer.

"Your money may be," he said. "I don't think you're a bit too good for it, but your father is a different kind."

Carolina Langdon stood at the back of the room, nervously awaiting the moment when, she knew, she would be forced into the unpleasant discussion.

"I reckon you can't refuse to believe Miss Langdon," drawled Norton, with aggravated deliberation.

"Of course," stammered Haines, "I'd believe it if Miss Langdon says it's so."

The congressman turned toward Carolina as he spoke and fixed on her a tense look which spelled as plainly as though spoken, "It's all in your hands, my fortune—yours."

She slowly drew across the room. Haines could hardly conceal the turmoil of his mind. The world seemed suddenly snatched from around him, leaving her figure alone before him. Would she affirm what Norton and Randolph had said? He must believe her. But surely it was impossible that she—

Carolina played for time. She feared the making of a false move.

"I don't understand?" she said inquiringly to Norton.

He calmly began an elaborate explanation.

"Miss Langdon, this secretary has discovered that there is a certain perfectly legitimate venture in Altacoola lands being carried on through certain influential people we know and by me. The blood of the young reformer is boiling. He is going straight to your father with the facts."

"My father—is—in—the deal,"

"I have tried to explain to him how it will needlessly embarrass the senator and spoil his own future. He won't believe me. He won't believe your brother. Perhaps you can make it clear."

At last Carolina nerved herself to speak.

"You can't refuse to believe Miss Langdon."

"You had better not go to my father, Mr. Haines. It will do no good. He—is—in—the deal! You must believe me when I tell you so."

The girl took her eyes from the secretary. He was plainly suffering.

Heart Strength

Heart Strength, or Heart Weakness, means Nerve Strength, or Nerve Weakness—nothing more. Positively, not one weak heart in a hundred is, in itself, actually diseased. It is almost always a hidden tiny little nerve that really is all at fault. This obscure nerve—the Cardiac, or Heart Nerve—simply needs, and must have, more power, more stability, more controlling, more governing strength. Without that the Heart must continue to fail, and the stomach and kidneys also have these same controlling nerves.

This clearly explains why, as a medicine, Dr. Shoop's Restorative has in the past done so much for weak and ailing hearts. Dr. Shoop first sought the cause of all this painful, palpitating, suffocating heart distress. Dr. Shoop's Restorative—this popular prescription—is alone directed to these weak and wasting nerve centers. It builds; it strengthens; it offers real, genuine heart help. If you would have strong Hearts, strong digestion, strengthen these nerves—re-establish them as needed, with

GUESSING HAS EVEN CEASED

"Dopesters" Give Up Speculation on Hopkins's Outlook.

SETTLING DOWN TO LONG PULL

Though Apparently Unable to Elect Their Candidate, the Hopkins Forces Are Prepared to Hold the Fort Against All Attack—It Is Now Agreed That Fishing Camps Will Be Flourishing on the River Before the Senatorship Is Finally Settled—Net Gain of One Vote Was the Result of the Week-End Campaign for Hopkins.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 3.—When the joint session of the Illinois general assembly reconvened today at noon it was apparent that the senatorial contest is as far from conclusion as on the first day of the session, and even the most inveterate "dopesters" have given up speculation on the outcome.

Three more ballots in joint session yesterday demonstrated that the senatorial situation is tied up as tightly now as it has been at any time since the deadlock began over the selection of a senator to succeed Senator Albert J. Hopkins. No one here expects the senatorship to be settled this week, and further than that no one cares to guess. The belief is gradually taking hold, however, that the opposing forces are settling down for a long-drawn-out battle, with the Hopkins forces, although unable to elect their candidate, yet holding the fort against all attacks. An old-timer about the Illinois legislature furnished an apt expression when he said: "It looks to me like the fishing camps will be flourishing on the river before the senatorship is finally settled."

The three ballots are indicative of but little change. In reality the changes that occurred on the different roll calls are of minor importance. Hopkins ended last week with 72 votes. He went up to 74 on the twenty-third ballot, remained stationary on the twenty-fourth and dropped back to 73 on the twenty-fifth. Speaker Shurtliff went through the three ballots with 15 votes, Lowden and McKinley with one vote each, Sherman and Calhoun with two votes each.

It was on the twenty-third ballot that Lawrence B. Stringer, the Democratic candidate for senator, once again forced himself to the front and became the leading candidate. On the next ballot Hopkins and Stringer tied with 74 votes each. Senator Hopkins finished the day on the twenty-fifth ballot with a lead of four votes over Stringer, due to some of the Democrats casting their votes for Thoman and Eckhart. The votes for Yates disappeared.

Demand for Recount.

A resolution was introduced in the assembly today providing for a recount of the votes cast for governor at the recent election. It will be pushed by the Democrats in behalf of Adlai E. Stevenson, Democrat, who was defeated by Governor Deneen. The Stevenson people declare they have found evidence of enough fraudulent voting to land their man. Governor Deneen says he has no objection to a recount so long as it is fairly conducted. A deadlock on the recount matter is predicted. Political leaders say it will be hard for the two branches of the assembly to agree on a method of conducting it. Both houses are Republican, but only the senate is friendly to Deneen.

For a Public Service Commission.

Railroads and all common carriers, gas and electric light and power corporations and telephone corporations are brought under the direct and mandatory supervision of a public service commission, under the terms of a bill introduced in the senate by Senator Samuel A. Ettelson of Chicago. The commission is to be made up of seven members appointed by the governor for terms of five years. Each of the commissioners is given a salary of $10,000 per year.

Fixing For Inauguration.

Washington, Feb. 3.—To defray expenditures for fitting the capitol for the inauguration of William H. Taft, a joint resolution was agreed to unanimously in the senate appropriating $16,000. The resolution provides that the inaugural platform to be erected in front of the capitol shall seat 6,000 people, which is one third more than four years ago. It also authorizes extra policemen at the capitol for three days. The work of erecting reviewing stands in the vicinity of the White House has been begun.

Seventeen Victims of Explosion.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 3.—Seventeen men are dead as the result of an explosion in the No. 2 Short Creek mines of the Birmingham Coal and Iron company. Five of the dead are white and twelve are negroes. The explosion is thought to have been caused by a windy shot.

Another Way.

A well known London physician was invited out to the country for some shooting; but, although he tried several times, he could not hit a single rabbit.

"I'm very unlucky," he exclaimed. "I've killed nothing all day."

"Never mind," said his host. "Write the rabbits one of your prescriptions."

RUSSIAN SPIES IN LIMELIGHT

Duma Takes Up Notorious Secret Service.

SOME RECENT REVELATIONS

Have Served to Call Particular Attention to Russia's Infamous "Agents Provocateurs," and a Demand is Made Upon the Duma to Go Into the Whole System of Government Espionage—Government Accused of Being on Same Plane as Revolutionary and Equally Responsible for Murders of Persons of High Degree.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 3.—The public galleries in the duma were crowded, but the government benches were empty when the house resumed its sessions after the holidays, the attraction for the public being the interpellations on the subject of government spies in connection with the cases of Azef, the head of the fighting Russian Socialists, who was recently declared to be in reality a government spy, and Lopukine, former director of police in the department of the ministry of the interior, charged with high treason.

M. Pergament, a noted lawyer, presented the interpellation of the Constitutional Democrats. He declared that the "agents provocateurs" are now the greatest power in Russia, and denounced the system of sending out men to instigate crime as destructive to all confidence and surety. He accused the government of being in the same category as the revolutionary organizations and equally responsible for the murders of Grand Duke Sergius and Von Plehve.

Other members made similar accusations, the Laborite, Bulat, declaring that high Russian personages were murdered out of the state funds and that it was the ancestors of the Octoberists who killed Paul I. and Peter III. It was a curious fact that in spite of the tremendous interest in the affair, these fiery denunciations caused no scenes in the duma. The interpellations were adopted, after which they were referred to committee.

M. Lopukine has been refused bail, although Prince Obolensky and others have offered large sums as surety. He is confined in an isolated cell which is a comfortable and spacious room, and is allowed to send and receive letters subject to the usual prison censorship.

According to rumors in the duma lobby, Lopukine refuses to eat the prison fare, fearing he will be poisoned. He accepts only food sent by his family in sealed vessels. His lawyers maintain that he cannot be tried for treason and that his release is certain.

FINE ART GALLERY

The Walters Collection Turned Over to City of Baltimore Today.

Baltimore, Feb. 3.—With the opening of the splendid Walters art gallery to the public today Baltimore has the opportunity of claiming for its own one of the finest collections of art objects in the world.

The new white marble building at the corner of Charles and Center street contains not only the famous Massarenti collection of old masters and ceramics, purchased in 1902 for nearly $1,000,000, but also the works of art previously owned by Mr. Walters and those since added to his collections.

Henry Walters, the art collector, whose generosity has given Baltimore the new gallery, is one of the city's best known capitalists and philanthropists. He is the largest stockholder in the Atlantic Coast line and has many other extensive business interests. He is an enthusiastic yachtsman.

Shot Into Crowded Courtroom.

Gatesville, Tex., Feb. 3.—Miss Verna Ware, daughter of a prominent farmer of this county, fired into a crowded courtroom here, continuing until her revolver was emptied. As a result John Hanes, a merchant of Jonesboro, for whom the bullets were intended, is dead, two bystanders, James Smith and David Ross, are believed to be mortally wounded, and A. C. Wiley, Jr., another bystander, is seriously wounded. Miss Ware was complainant and Hanes defendant on a charge of seduction.

The Coroner's Opinion.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—That Mrs. Katherine M. Campbell, who was found dead in the bathroom of her home a few days ago, and in connection with whose death her husband, John Duffer in Campbell, is now under arrest, died as the result of gas asphyxiation, is the opinion of Dr. Warren H. Hunter of the coroner's staff, expressed after a post-mortem examination.

The Charge Dismissed.

Benton, Ill., Feb. 3.—Dr. B. F. Brayfield was freed of the charge of murder in the Franklin county circuit court, when State's Attorney Hickman dismissed the case against him charging the murder of Reuben Parrish, an Illinois Central station agent at Mulkeytown, last March. Dr. Brayfield was Parrish's physician.

DOINGS IN CONGRESS

Dr. Crum's Case Again Agitates the Stately Senators.

Washington, Feb. 3.—The house locked horns with the senate on the question of automobiles for the White House and refused to accept an amendment to the urgent deficiency bill striking out the appropriation of $12,000 for that purpose. The bill was sent to conference. The hopes of the army for sufficient money to continue its experiments in aeronautics were blasted when the house reconsidered its action of last week and by a vote of almost two to one withdrew the increase of $500,000 then made. After undergoing this and other amendments the army appropriation bill was passed and consideration of the agricultural bill immediately began.

Action in the Senate.

An agreement was reached in the senate to vote on Feb. 23 on the Aldrich substitute bill for the appointment of a court of inquiry to determine the qualifications for re-enlistment of the discharged soldiers of the Twenty-fifth infantry, as the result of the Brownsville incident. The senate passed a house bill which is intended to prevent the importation of opium into the United States except for medical purposes. The District of Columbia bill carrying $12,026,022 was reported. A large part of the day was devoted to an executive session, during which the nomination of Collector Crum (colored) of Charleston, S. C., was considered.

GOING ABROAD TO WED BARONET'S DAUGHTER

Young Westinghouse Sails Today For England.

New York, Feb. 3.—Sailing for England today on the Mauretania was George Westinghouse, Jr., whose errand abroad is his marriage to an English girl. The wedding was originally set for last month, but was postponed by Mr. Westinghouse's illness. As seen on the deck of the steamer today, Mr. Westinghouse seemed to be in excellent health. He is to marry Miss Evelyn Violet Brocklebank.

Mr. Westinghouse is the son of the famous and wealthy inventor of the air brake. His bride to be is the daughter of Sir Thomas Brocklebank, a very rich English baronet. She is a twin, her sister being Miss Agnes Sylvia Brocklebank.

The arrangements and the date of the wedding will be decided upon after the arrival in England of Mr. Westinghouse.

The ceremony will take place at Irton Hall, in Holbrook, Cumberland county, the ancestral home of the Brocklebanks.

IN OBALDIA'S DEFENSE

Panama Assembly Says Rainey Slandered the President.

Panama, Feb. 3.—The National Assembly has unanimously approved a resolution protesting against what it describes as: "The slanderous assertions made by Representative Rainey in the American congress against President Obaldia, which assertions deserve to be considered only because of the official character of the one who made them."

The resolution concludes as follows: "The assembly publicly and solemnly protests against the insult to the chief executive of Panama, His Excellency Domingo de Obaldia, as implied in the parliament of a friendly nation."

A copy of the resolution will be officially communicated to the Government of the United States.

Still Lacks Three Votes.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 3.—While the friends of United States Senator Isaac Stephenson were hopeful that yesterday's joint ballot would settle the senatorial contest, they were disappointed in that Senator Stephenson did not gain a single vote over last Friday's ballot, the result being the same—63 votes out of a total of 130 cast—being three short of an election.

It Tastes Good and Creates Strength

the famous cod liver and iron medicine, without oil. Vinol is much better than cod liver oil and emulsions, because, while it contains all the medicinal value they do, it disagrees with no one.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, after sickness, and for stubborn coughs and colds Vinol is unequalled.

Vinol is sold in Rushville by F. B. F. B. Johnson & Company.
